Project Goals

Identify

- Gauge perceptions of Arizona registered and likely voters on top issues
- Learn what issues and debate topics resonate most with Arizona voters in each region and party

Discover

- Look into broad issue categories and granular, smaller issues that matter to Arizonans
- Drill deep on three key issues – economics, immigration, and abortion – driving the conversation
- Provide actionable, strategic recommendations for voter education and debate discussions
Note before getting started: Enthusiasm for voting is high, and LVs/RVs are similar. Big ideas in this deck will apply regardless of if you’re thinking about LVs or RVs.

Sample Demographics

Demographics: Gender, Age, Party (n=1634 registered voters)
Subgroup: Likely general election voters (n=1438)

Arizona voters want change.
To get there, fights – and compromise – are encouraged.
An appetite for change
Arizona is (still) heading in the wrong direction...

All that being said, Arizonans want compromise too
I want my representatives to stand firm on their beliefs, even if it means not much gets done in government

Fighting and principles are healthy.

But not everyone wants government to grind to a halt.

- Voters ages 18-34 (+36) are much more likely than voters ages 65+ (-11) to put ideological purity over efficient government

- By a huge margin, Republicans (+32) are more likely than Democrats (+3) or Independents (+6) to be willing to slow down the government over issues they care about

Key Takeaways

- AZ heading in the wrong direction as Democrats control the governorship and presidency. This could open the door for a big win in 2024 for Republicans – the party likely voters say should run the state.

- Arizonans say they want an ideological fighter. BUT there are limits: They don’t want these fights to prevent solutions and compromise.

Insight: Voters value principle AND compromise. Debate questions should give candidates the chance to draw contrasts, talk about what they’d change, AND how they would make it work with the other side.
The issues that matter most
Our Multilayered Approach

We allow people to select from 50 issues, each of which are slotted into larger categories

- For instance, someone could select “Jobs/Economy (taxes)” OR “Jobs/Economy (gas prices)”

We used a multi-stage question

- Allow people to select as many issues as they want at first (“want to know” issues)
- Then require them to pick their top three (“want to know more”)
- And lastly, a single most important issue (“need to know” issues)

This allowed us to get a sense for what people want to know about in general, and what they want to know about the most

- We also broke this data down by likely voter and likely primary voters from each party

This is truly unique – most surveys do not get this much detail.
For the next section, there were 12 total categories a respondent could choose issues from…

- Healthcare
- Government
- Jobs/Economy
- Abortion
- Elections
- Infrastructure
- Education
- Gun Policy
- Housing
- Environment
- Public Safety
- Immigration
Q) Candidates for political office have positions on many issues facing Arizona. Of the following issues, which are important for you to know a candidate's position on when you are deciding whom to vote for in an election for state office? (n=1438 likely voters)

† Note: Some numbers (on the chart or elsewhere) may not appear to be totaled correctly. This is due to rounding.
Q) Of the issues you chose in the last question, which are the three most important for you to know a candidate's position when you are deciding how you will vote? (n=1438 likely voters)

“Because there is a crisis at the border right now and I would want people in the government who are willing to stand up to Joe Biden and take steps to close the Arizona border to improve the safety and job security for the people here legally.” – White woman, age 18-34, Maricopa County

“Inflation is still very present. We are being led to believe it is getting better, but it is still very much an issue. Prices are rising every day.” – White woman, age 65+, Mohave County

“Abortion is not healthcare and any candidate that doesn’t value the life [of] unborn babies can’t be trusted to make other important decisions.” – Hispanic/Latino man, age 35-44, Maricopa County

Illegal immigration has a financial burden on all taxpayers. – Mixed-race male, age 55-64, Pima County

Although I do not personally believe in abortion, it is not my right to restrict a woman’s choice for her own body. – White male, age 45-54 years, Pima County

Because everything in the economy right now is unaffordable, you know wages don’t match the prices that are going up, and living is affordable at the moment. – Black woman, age 18-34, Maricopa County

† Note: Some numbers (on the chart or elsewhere) may not appear to be totaled correctly. This is due to rounding.
The local issue: WATER – In an open-ended question on local issues, perceived water scarcity is impacting voters

“Water supply is down, and Arizona has been suffering under a heat dome every summer. Lives are in danger in a city with very few places to find shade and water without the ability to get help until they dehydrate or worse...prevent heat-related issues that can quickly become fatal.” – Woman, age 35-44, Mohave County

“Too much growth, not enough water.” – Man, age 35-44, Yuma County

“Development without concern for water availability” – Man, age 65+, Maricopa County

“Water is the main local issue for determining my vote” – Woman, age 55-64, Pima County
INSIGHT: Immigration, abortion and inflation are the key topics. But different voters care about each issue.

The key: tailoring topics to the audience.

Key Takeaways

- Republicans need to know about immigration – that matters to them more than anything else.

- For Democrats, abortion matters most. But economics and other core life concerns – like housing affordability and healthcare – matter too.

- Everyone wants to talk about inflation. And don’t forget about WATER.
Getting deeper on the big three: abortion, economics and immigration
Immigration: A pro-restriction mood. A core GOP concern.
Immigration is a top issue among Republicans and Independents

Q) Finally, which is the most important issue for you to know a candidate's position when you are deciding how you will vote? (n=1438 likely voters)

But voters have turned against immigration

Even LEGAL immigration

- Republicans, conservatives, and voters from rural counties want to decrease legal immigration the most. No surprise.

- But, even among Democrats, the results are split (35% increase, 22% decrease, 28% keep same).

- The people who care the most want the most restriction: 59% who said Border Security was their top issue said that LEGAL immigration should be decreased.

Q) Should legal immigration be increased, decreased, or kept at current levels? (n=1438 likely voters)

† Note: Some numbers (on the chart or elsewhere) may not appear to be totaled correctly. This is due to rounding
On illegal immigration, EVERYONE is united. Majorities of each party want illegal immigration to DECREASE.

Q) Should illegal immigration be increased, decreased, or kept at current levels? (n=1438 likely voters)

This issue is LOCAL: Arizonans think the border states should have a say on immigration policy

Democrats favor the federal government, while Republicans favor states’ rights.

- Republicans:
  - Border States: 29%
  - Federal Gov’t: 13%

- Democrats:
  - Border States: 16%
  - Federal Gov’t: 28%

- Independents:
  - Border States: 23%
  - Federal Gov’t: 17%

Q) Who should have authority over border security -- border states, the federal government, both, or another group? (n=1438 likely voters)
Subgroups: Independents (n=369), Democrats (n=506), Republicans (n=563)
† Note: Some numbers (on the chart or elsewhere) may not appear to be totaled correctly. This is due to rounding
INSIGHT: Voters want to know what politicians THINK and will DO to change the border situation. No skating past this.

To voters, legal and illegal immigration are both issues.

Immigration Takeaways

- Arizona is in a pro-restriction mood – many against legal AND illegal immigration.
- This is THE key issue for Republicans – anyone who wants to communicate with Republicans needs to think hard about this issue.
- Arizonans are not farming this out to the federal government: They want a seat at the table.
Economics: Everybody Hurts
CPI – an inflation measure – has slowed down. Growing more slowly. Good news, right?

† Note: Some numbers (on the chart or elsewhere) may not appear to be totaled correctly. This is due to rounding
Arizonans disagree.

6 in 10 say the national economy is getting worse.

- Conservatives (80%), Republicans (79%), and Independents/Another Party (66%) believe that the national economy is getting worse.

- Democrats (25%), people with a high school level education (21%), and moderates who do not lean left or right (23%) are likelier to believe the economy is staying the same.

- People who identified as “very liberal” (45%), Democrats (42%), and liberals (42%) were more likely to say things were “getting better.” But even that group wasn’t majority optimistic.

Q) In each of the following areas, would you say that the economic/financial situation is getting better, getting worse, or staying about the same? (The national economy) (The state economy) (Your local community’s economy) (Your personal financial situation) (n=1438 likely voters)

And inflation dominates other concerns. It’s the top issue driving jobs/economy pain.

Percentage who picked each issue as #1 – Jobs/Economy sub-issues

- Inflation/rising prices: 10%
- Taxes: 3%
- Unemployment: 1%
- Encouraging Businesses to come to Arizona: 1%
- Minimum Wage: 1%
- Gas Prices: 1%
- Supply Chain Management: 1%
- State Regulations: 0%

Q) Finally, which is the most important issue for you to know a candidate’s position when you are deciding how you will vote? † Note: Some numbers (on the chart or elsewhere) may not appear to be totaled correctly. This is due to rounding
INSIGHT: Inflation is the biggest economic problem. But politicians can’t just talk about it on the national level. Solutions need to address the state, local communities, and individuals.
Abortion: Advocating for Legality
The topline: likely voters want legal abortions

Key Demographics:
- Independents: Legal +26
- Maricopa County: Legal +20
- HHI $50k-$100k: Legal +17
- Hispanic/Latinos: Legal +16

Q) On abortion, which of the following statements best matches your opinion? (n=1438 Likely voters)
Subgroups: Independents (n=369), Hispanics/Latinos (n=201), Maricopa County (n=831), HHI $50k-$100k (n=581)

† Note: Some numbers (on the chart or elsewhere) may not appear to be totaled correctly. This is due to rounding.
If someone said abortion was their top issue, they were probably pro-choice.

Personal Abortion Opinion
(among voters who ranked abortion-related topics as their top issue)

- Abortion should be illegal in all cases
- Abortion should be illegal in most cases
- Abortion should be legal in most cases
- Abortion should be legal in all cases
- Not sure

Q) On abortion, which of the following statements best matches your opinion?

Subgroups: Laws regarding abortion access (n=144), Whether the candidate calls him/herself pro-life or pro-choice (n=78)

† Note: Some numbers (on the chart or elsewhere) may not appear to be totaled correctly. This is due to rounding.
This is a wedge issue: Democrats are more united than Republicans – and Independents back the pro-choice side.

Personal Abortion Opinion

- Abortion should be illegal in all cases
- Abortion should be illegal in most cases
- Abortion should be legal in most cases
- Abortion should be legal in all cases
- Not sure

Q) On abortion, which of the following statements best matches your opinion?

Subgroups: Independents (n=369), Democrats (n=506), Republicans (n=563)

† Note: Some numbers (on the chart or elsewhere) may not appear to be totaled correctly. This is due to rounding.
The problem: Voters don’t know exactly what the parties want to do. This is especially unclear for the post-Roe Republican Party.

What would _____ do if they win in the 2024?

- Attempt to ban abortion altogether
- Only attempt to restrict abortion to an early point, such as 6 or 15 weeks
- Leave current abortion laws alone
- Attempt to increase abortion access
- Not sure

Q) Suppose Republicans win the 2024 election on the state and national level. What do you think they would do about abortion?

- Attempt to ban abortion altogether: 41%
- Only attempt to restrict abortion to an early point, such as 6 or 15 weeks: 24%
- Leave current abortion laws alone: 14%
- Attempt to increase abortion access: 12%
- Not sure: 9%

Q) Suppose Democrats win the 2024 election on the state and national level. What do you think they would do about abortion? (n=1438 likely voters)

† Note: Some numbers (on the chart or elsewhere) may not appear to be totaled correctly. This is due to rounding
INSIGHT: In a post-Roe world, the GOP hasn’t landed on a clear position. Dems are clearer—but some voters still don’t know their stance.

A narrowly pro-choice state needs to know, specifically, where each candidate stands.

Abortion Takeaways

- On balance, the pro-choice side is winning the argument in Arizona. But it’s a closely divided state.

- The people who care most about the issue skew pro-choice.

- But normal voters aren’t sure what the parties want to do. And, now that Roe is gone, the Republican Party doesn’t have a clear, single message.

There’s a worthwhile debate to be had about how much the U.S. should be involved in either war. There is an anti-Israel and anti-Ukraine minority. But both countries have majority support – helpful framing for this issue.

Key Takeaways: Foreign Policy

- The big picture context: Americans back either maintaining or increasing funds to Israel and Ukraine.
- There’s some age gradient – older voters favor the U.S.’s traditional allies, and young voters may be a shade more skeptical.
Overall Takeaways: The Top Issues

- On the economy – everyone wants to know how inflation will be solved because it is the KEY problem.

- On the border – Arizona is in a pro-restriction mood. Candidates must explain how they’re going to solve the border crisis and address immigration generally.

- On abortion – the GOP must clarify their stance in the post-Roe era. Majority pro-choice with dissent.

INSIGHT: Possible to craft:
- Border questions that get deep on legal vs illegal immigration plus security
- Abortion questions that clarify GOP stances
- Inflation questions that challenge all
- AND give voters the info they need to know

People tend to view politics from a distance – TV and speeches reach people more than individual volunteers.

- Campaigns’ primary means of reaching likely voters is through television and debate.
- Like previous surveys found, likely voters’ third and fourth most common way of finding out about campaigns is through conversation with those around them.

!Campaigns’ Contact with Likely Voters

Q) Below is a list of various ways campaigns can communicate with voters. Please indicate which of the methods you most often use to learn about candidates. (n=1438 Likely voters)

Key Takeaways

- In more rural areas – and at the border – immigration is a top concern.
- In dense areas, the economy and abortion are higher in the “most important issue” rankings.
- TV is king for the overall population – best way to reach people.
- For young voters, social media matters more.

INSIGHT:
- Politics is a TV sport – be there, and be on social media.
- Tailor the debates for your region – debate border in rural and border areas, culture in the city, and economics everywhere.
BUT voters need clarity on:
• Exact abortion positions for both sides, especially the GOP
• How Arizona politicians will ACT on immigration
• How inflation will be SOLVED at ALL levels
• They’re expecting to hear from candidates, news media via TV (all types – not just cable!), and social media.

Key Takeaways & Actionable Insights

• Arizonans are in the mood for change: ready to hear solutions, interested in politics.

• Governing style matters. Candidates MUST say how they’d balance compromise AND stand firm.

• The big three – abortion, immigration, economics – are still the big three.
Methodology
Research Methodology

This poll was conducted by Noble Predictive Insights from March 12-20, 2024 and surveyed Arizona registered voters via opt-in online panel and text-to-online SMS message in English and Spanish. The sample included 1,634 registered voters, 1,438 likely general election voters, and 1,306 likely primary voters (determined via screening questions). The sample demographics were weighted to accurately reflect the registered voter population by gender, region, age, party affiliation, race/ethnicity, and education according to recent voter file data, the Arizona Secretary of State’s Office, and recent Census data. The margin of error was +/- 2.7% for likely primary election voters, +/- 2.6% for likely general election voters and +/- 2.4% for registered voters.

*Numbers may not total 100%, due to rounding.
Registered voter data is shown here. Likely voter data – primary and general – is in the poll report sample summary.
